

It's the end of an era

THE famous Huish slope fades into sporting history on Saturday when Yeovil play their final game on the pitch once said to be worth two goals to them.

This end of an era is being shown on HTV West on Sunday at 3pm. The programme Farewell to the Slope will flash back over 70 years of Huish history.

Two of the personalities appearing in the programme are former player manager Alec Stock and centre forward Eric Bryant (left) the scorers of those vital winning goals against Sunderland 41 years ago.

The cameras will be at the final game against Telford.
